BUSINESS INTERESTS PROMISE
LOYAL SUPPORT FOR EVEN-ING FEATURE.

ANOTHER BIG ACT SECURED

Zeno, Jordan & Zeno, Wonderful Aerialists, Are Secured For a Performance Here.

A big industrial and callithumpian parade, in which every industry in Dixon will be asked to participate, will be one of the features of Dixon's Monster Fourth of July celebration, which will be held Monday, July 5th. The parade committee, consisting of Henry J. Kenneth, Commissioner Geo. Smith and ex-Senator Frank Downing have called on a number of the business men and factory owners and have been given great encouragement—in fact they are now certain that every one of the business institutions will assist with a display of some kind in the parade; while the callithumpian features have been planned and will add a great deal of comedy to the pageant.

Chairman Miller has received the contract of another big feature act for the day: Zeno, Jordan and Zeno, three of the most clever aerialists in the world. The act is one of the biggest in the country and is of such merit that it has been secured as the feature for the opening of the big hip podrome at the Federal League baseball park in Chicago. They are described as phenomenal gymnasts and aerialists, and their act, which was a feature of the great Wallace-Hagenback shows last summer, is death defying in many respects.

Ten great big acts, every one of them a headliner, with the wonderful Mlle. LaBelle and Daredevil Hurley, as the starting feature, have been secured for the day and a program that is equal to any of the highest priced hippodromes will be given absolutely free during the day.

FIREMEN TO MEET AT BLUE ISLAND

CITY WHERE DIXON WON TRO-PHY TO AGAIN ENTERTAIN
STATE ASSOCIATION.

The Illinois Firemen's association will hold their annual tournament at Blue Island on July 27, 28 and 29. The officers in charge are endeavoring to arouse new interest in the events to be held and are writing to all the old teams that have competed in previous years and are trying to get them to organize a team for this year. At the last tournament held at Blue Island, about ten years ago, the Dixon hook and ladder team won the state championship. Chief Coffey has written to the secretary of the association that there is no prospect of this city sending a team to participate this year.

Groceries Is Latest In Retail Of Staple Articles

One of progressive business men of Freeport is considering the opening up of a "grocery" in one of the many store store rooms left vacant after the town went dry. This is a new plant for selling groceries, which originated in Los Angeles, Cal., and bids fair to become a factor in the grocery business.

In a grocery, there are no grocery clerks, no delivery wagons, and the business is conducted by two people, alone, a cashier and a floor walker. The public help themselves to whatever they care to purchase, walk up to the cashier's desk and pay for the same. Every article sold is put up in packages and marked with the price, in plain figures on the outside of the carton, can or package.

The grocery will bring back into use the old fashioned market basket which is seldom seen at the present time. Years ago before the advent of the delivery wagon, when a grocer was not called upon to deliver a two-

WILL ISSUE ORDERS ON USE OF FIRE CRACKERS

COMMISSIONER VAN BIBBER TO PROHIBIT THEIR USE IN BUSINESS DISTRICT.

That the Fourth of July celebration to be held in this city shall be a safe and sane one is the desire of Commissioner of Public Health and Safety J. D. VanBibber, and he will shortly issue an order regarding fireworks. The shooting of firecrackers or the exploding of canes and torpedoes will be prohibited in the business district during the day as the streets will no doubt be crowded and every means possible will be done to avoid accidents. Persons wishing to shoot off fireworks must do so in their own yards. The Fourth without fireworks to young America is a rather tame affair and they very often become reckless in firing them and it is not the intent to stop the same altogether but they must not throw them onto the street where horses are liable to become frightened.

COMMUNITY'S LIFE REFLECTED IN IT'S YOUTH; DR. MILLER

CHICAGO PROFESSOR DELIVERS
GREAT ADDRESS AT N. D.
H. S. GRADUATION.

EXERCISES WERE IMPRESSIVE

The Class of Excellent Young People
Were Graduated With Fitting Honors.

Commencement exercises for the class of 1915 of the North Dixon schools were held last evening at the Methodist church, a representative crowd of parents, friends and patrons being present. The class, composed of Misses Elizabeth Barge, Ruth G. Chiverton, Mary Ellen Craig, Mary A. Mahan, Grace Lucile Mason, Frances E. Patrick, R. Belle Read and Harriet K. Schumm and Messrs. Harris L. Ackert, Robert E. Fulton Jr. and Edward T. Howell, presented an array of young people of which North Dixon has reason to be proud, charming, dainty looking young women and bright, eager looking young men, ready to tackle life's problems with a vim. The platform setting was a mass of greenery and blossoms, palms and ferns concealing the chancel rail with a mass of peonies and syringa forming the background. Dr. Frank Justus Miller, professor of Latin of the University of Chicago, was the speaker of the evening.

Following two numbers by North Dixon orchestra, the "Mazurka" and "Emily Schottische," both by Evans, which were sprightly and harmoniously rendered, one could easily think the harmony produced that of an adult orchestra if the little folks were not playing right before one's eyes. Rev. E. O. Bradshaw gave the invocation. "The Dance song from William Tell," Rossini and "Slumber Boat," Gaynor were sung by the High School Glee club, interpreting for the audience correctly and beautifully the spirit of each piece. The glee club was followed by Dr. Miller who, with an interesting introductory speech, launched into his topic, "Does Education Educate?"

Is Fine Speaker.
Dr. Miller, an easy speaker, quiet yet commanding, made an appeal to reason which was listened to attentively by the audience. In his introductory remarks he declared that those assembled had met to think and upon the present day problem, the child. He said, "I wish I had the gift of second sight, to see all that centers here tonight, to look back into your homes during the years that led up to this and to know all the influences, all the sacrifices and care which have been expended to produce this night, and then think that the life here tonight is the life of this town and the surrounding country, the life of men and women who have done the best that in them lies to bring up these children to this point, to be useful and intelligent citizens."

BRYAN PREPARING ANOTHER MESSAGE ON HIS ATTITUDE

WILL MAKE IT PUBLIC WITH PUB-LICATION OF AMERICAN
NOTE FRIDAY.

(Associated Press)

Washington, June 10—Bryan is preparing another statement of his attitude in the situation between the United States and Germany which he intends to issue with the publication of the American note to Germany tomorrow morning.

It has been learned that just before the note was forwarded to Berlin it was shown to Bryan by Lansing at the direction of President Wilson. Some slight changes had been made in the wording of the note and Wilson wanted Bryan to see it in its final form.

The note is friendly but reiterates firmly the demand for reparation for the loss of American lives on the Lusitania and a desire that neutrals be permitted to travel on unarmed ships without being subject to dangers from submarines.

London, June 10—The body of Alfred G. Vanderbilt has been found on the Claire coast, 250 miles from the Lusitania disaster, by an old woman, it is reported. It is said that the initialed pockets, the watch and papers on the pockets of his clothing established the identity of the corpse. Neither Vanderbilt's secretary nor the Cunard line have received any confirmation.

Late this afternoon representatives of the Vanderbilt family received information that the body found was not that of Vanderbilt.

tirement—Italians Take Monfalcone

(Associated Press)

Berlin, June 10—It has been officially announced that German forces which invaded the Russian Baltic provinces have retreated.

Tactical Reverse.

The reverse in the Baltic provinces was a tactical one, according to Berlin. The German right wing was withdrawn because Russian reinforcements were coming up. In the last two days 2250 Russians have been taken in this district.

WAR SUMMARY.

The Italians have captured the city of Monfalcone after stubborn resistance along the Isonzo river, Rome reports. The town is sixteen miles from Trieste with which it is connected by railroad. Vienna last night said that the attack on Monfalcone had failed.

Successes in Galicia.

The Austro-German armies claim uninterrupted successes in Galicia.

French Make Progress.

The French have made further progress in the "labyrinth," according to Paris.

Three Ships Sunk.

The trawlers Nottingham and Velocity and the British steamer Erna Bolde have been sunk by submarines. The crews were saved.

Sporadic engagements are reported in France and Belgium, each side winning minor successes.

Four More Vessels Sunk

The trawlers Tunisian and Castor have been sunk by German submarines, the crews being saved. Two British torpedo boats were torpedoed and sunk off the coast of England today by a German submarine. Forty-one survivors were brought ashore.

The two torpedo boats had each a complement of thirty-five men. The British trawlers Quilve and Edward have been sunk by submarines, the crews being saved.

Heavy Naval Losses.

The total losses of officers and men of British naval craft since the beginning of the war is 64,000 not including the lives lost on the Princess Irene and the battleship Bulwark, which were blown up in Sheerness harbor.

Uncle Sam Recommends Oil Mixed Concrete For Dampness

Washington, D. C., June 10—After extensive laboratory and service tests the Department of Agriculture has secured results which appear to establish definitely the value of oil-mixed concrete for damp-proof construction. Detailed results of these tests, which were carried out in connection with the work of the office of Public Roads are contained in the new bulletin, No. 230, of the Department entitled "Oil-Mixed Portland Cement Concrete." Briefly summarized, the conclusions to be drawn from them are that the admixture of certain mineral oils in small proportions, not to exceed 10 per cent of cement used, does not lessen the tensile strength of mortar; that the decrease in the compressive strength of mortar and concrete is not serious; that concrete mixed with oil takes much longer to set hard, perhaps

PUTS UP STRONG CONTENTIONS
IN NOTE ON WILLIAM P.
FRYE CASE.

NO OCCASION FOR DIPLOMACY

Claims Prize Court Should Act and Award Compensation for All Losses.

(Associated Press)

Washington, June 10—Germany's reply to the second American note regarding the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye has been received, but will not be made public until it has been studied. Acting Secretary of State Lansing announced today.

Insists On Rights.

Germany, in the note, insists the stopping of enemy's ships may be effected by the destruction of any vessel carrying contraband without the violation of treaty obligations. The Berlin government contends that a prize court is necessary to fix compensation and that there is no occasion for direct diplomatic negotiations unless a prize court shall fail to award compensation.

Makes Wide Claim.

The note further makes the far-reaching claim of the right of Germany to destroy any American vessels carrying contraband while agreeing to pay all damages.

TO HOLD ANOTHER FARMERS PICNIC

FARM ADVISOR MOVEMENT WILL BE DISCUSSED AT AM-
BOY JUNE 30TH.

The announcement was made today that on Wednesday, June 30th, at Green River Park in Amboy, there will be a big picnic and mass meeting in the interest of the formation of a Lee County Farm Bureau and the employing of a farm advisor for this county.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Amboy Commercial club, the Green River Farmers' club and the committee appointed last year to promote the interest in a farm advisor for Lee county. A meeting is to be held in Amboy this evening to further the plans for the picnic on the 30th.

The present plan is to have W. S. Handachin, State Leader, County Agent Work, U. S. Department of Agriculture, from the state university at Urbana, present as the speaker of the day and this expert has agreed to come. Farmers, business men and everyone interested are invited to come, enjoy a basket picnic and take part in the furtherance of the development of Lee county.

PEACE.

There are a great many precious things in the world, but nothing so desirable as is peace.

Peace is a condition of international tranquility in which a man has to run an aeroplane in order to get killed with any degree of certainty.

The glories of peace have been sung for four thousand years—generally by the men who have possessed tenacious memories or have heard about the thing from their grandfathers.

In peace nations love each other and work together for the general good. Swords are beaten into plowshares, sparrows build their nests in the mouths of cannon and nobody gets shot except the friendless wild duck in the spring time.

In peace nations grow rich and the humble poor put money away in the savings bank. Also each nation spends hundreds of millions of dollars laying away cartridges and other forms of ill-health against the day when some other nation shall go out of the peace business.

There is very little peace in the world today—less than for centuries past. That is because peace has been too highly valued of late. For forty years Europe has been staying off war and preparing for it. In the belligerent old times nations called each other names today, went to war tomorrow and forgot about it the day after. But after staying off war for fifty years Europe fell in and will not be able to climb out until there is no one left to fight.

This shows that peace can be too highly valued. Nobody should go about the world poking a gun as big as a subway tunnel at his neighbors in order to encourage peace. Sooner or later his forefinger will get nervous.

On the other hand there is China, which has loved peace passionately for 4,000 years and has declined to go to war or to prepare for it. Therefore China has been whittled down gradually and will be swallowed tomorrow by Japan, which is one-tenth its size.

There is a happy medium in preserving peace. A nation should maintain enough battleships and cannon to make it very unhealthy for the enemy to approach. On the other hand it should not maintain enough to make it equally unhealthy for it to attack anyone else. The tall quiet man with rippling muscles who can choke a man with one hand but never learned how to fight enjoys more peace than any other variety of human.

DEMENTTOWN DOINGS COMMUNITY'S LIFE

REFLECTED IN YOUTH

Child Is Big Problem.

Then Dr. Miller went on to show that present day people recognize the child as the chief problem, illustrating by the story of the Pied Piper of Hamelin what a town would be without such a problem. Dr. Miller declared that, people recognizing the problem, sought its solution in education. In fact, he said, people of today seek to make education the solution of all problems, the panacea of all ills. The development of education was traced from the idea of a purely book education, the training of the head, to the training of the hand, manual training, and then training of the body, until now the demand is for the rounded, trained mind, body and soul.

Education's Products.

Education produces three kinds of persons, said Dr. Miller. Educated enemies of society, educated nonentities and educated personalities with character, and he declared that the hope of the present day is to educate young people so they are willing to and can assume responsibility, are efficient, will respect law and order, are righteous and reverent.

Dr. Miller's thoughtful speech was followed by Mrs. Muriel Phelps in a beautiful, clearly enunciated solo: "The Spring Has Come." The diplomas were presented by Supt. H. H. Hagen in a few well chosen words, another selection was given by the orchestra and Rev. E. O. Bradshaw closed the program with the benediction.

RECOMMENDS OIL MIXED CONCRETE

quarts, should be added for each bag of cement used in the mixture. The sand and cement should be first mixed with the proper amount of water into a stiff mortar, to which is added the correct amount of oil, and the whole mass again thoroughly mixed until all traces of the oil have disappeared. Particular care should be taken to insure that the oil is thoroughly incorporated in the mixture and the time of mixing should be practically double that when the oil is not used. For this reason a continuous mixer should not be used in oil-cement concrete work, as it is difficult with this type of machine to increase the time of mixing sufficiently.

The kind of oil is also important and the following technical specifications are suggested in the bulletin in order to prevent the use of certain oils which might tend to impair the strength of the mortar or the concrete.

1. The oil shall be a fluid petroleum product and shall contain no admixture of fatty or vegetable oils.

2. It shall have a specific gravity not greater than 0.945 at a temperature of 250 degrees C.

3. It shall show a flash point of not less than 150 degrees C, by the closed-cup method.

4. When 240 cc. of the oil is heated in an Engler viscosimeter at 50 degrees C., and maintained at that temperature for at least three minutes, the first 100 cc. which flows out shall show a specific viscosity of not less than 15 nor more than 30.

5. When 1 part of the oil is shaken up with 2 parts of hundredth normal caustic soda, there shall be no emulsification, and upon allowing the mixture to remain quiet the two components shall rapidly separate in distinct layers.

For practical use the addition of oil will be found particularly useful in the construction of basement floors and walls. Many of these now in existence are continually damp and such a condition may be remedied by the application of oil-mixed mortar coat to the old surface. A mortar composed of one part of cement and two parts sand and containing 5 per cent of oil should be sufficiently non-absorbent for this purpose.

Watering troughs and cisterns made of oil-mixed concrete should also prove of considerable practical value in the conservation of water. In the construction of barns, where oil-mixed concrete is used, the interior will be noticeably drier than when ordinary concrete is used. Owing to their durability, cleanliness, and resistance to fire, concrete barns are becoming more and more popular, but they suffer from the disadvantage that during a long, beating rain the side walls are inclined to absorb much moisture, which ultimately penetrates into the interior. The addition of 5 percent of the weight of cement in the concrete used in the side walls obviates this objection. Barn floors can also be constructed in the same way with advantage. A damp-proof floor is warmer because of the lack of evaporation from its surface, and it is also more sanitary than an ordinary concrete floor because of its non-absorbent character.

There are, of course, any number of other types of buildings and structures of all sorts in which oil-mixed concrete may be used advantageously, or if this is not necessary, a coat of oil-mixed mortar may be applied effectively.

Attention is called, however, to the fact that extreme care in proportioning, mixing, and placing the concrete is absolutely necessary if the addition of any water-proofing agent is to be of value. The process of mixing oil with concrete has been covered by a public patent so that anyone is at liberty to use it. The methods of using this material are discussed more fully in the bulletin already mentioned.

Last Visit to His Chief Declared Very Affecting.

NOTE TO GERMANY SENT OUT

Retiring Cabinet Officer and Wilson in Parting Clasp Each Other's Hands and Say "God Bless You"—Bryan Issues Statement Setting Out Position in Full.

Washington, D. C., June 10.—President Wilson and William Jennings Bryan bade each other an official farewell in the White House with a hearty handclasp. Before returning to his residence after discharging his final official duties at the state department, Mr. Bryan stopped at the White House and was taken immediately to the White House library. Both men extended their hands and then seated themselves on a couch. Briefly they recounted to each other the nature of the differences which have arisen between them over the German policy.

Mr. Bryan told the president how for weeks he had been awakening in the night and noting down suggestions as to how to relieve the president of the great burden he has been carrying. The president expressed his deep appreciation and referred to the fact that he had to carry those burdens alone, but was ready for the task.

"God Bless You," They Say.

Cordially and without any trace of feeling the two men talked of the situation which resulted in Mr. Bryan's resignation. Each spoke dispassionately of the differences and his belief that the other was doing what he thought best for the United States. Those who saw them were touched by the regard the two men displayed for each other.

Finally Mr. Bryan remarked that he knew the president was a busy man and that he would not detain him longer. The two men, who had stood together during the last year in one crisis after another, rose to their feet simultaneously and clasped hands.

"God bless you," said each as their hands touched.

Tells Associates Good Bye.
Mr. Bryan also bade farewell to his associates in the state department, received newspaper correspondents and made a tour of the state, war and navy buildings to call informally on colleagues.

Mr. Bryan in taking leave of state department employees told them the "rewards of life are not to be found either in the money we make or in the honors we enjoy."

Note Goes to Germany.

Washington, June 10.—Just after 2 o'clock in the afternoon the new American note to Germany which caused the cabinet crisis, culminating in Secretary Bryan's resignation, started on its way to Berlin. It will be given out for publication in the morning papers of Friday. Simultaneously, William Jennings Bryan's resignation as secretary of state took effect and he gave out a statement of his attitude.

Secretary Bryan's personal statement on the reasons for his resignation contends that the difficulties between Germany and the United States should be investigated by an international commission and that Americans should be warned to keep off belligerent ships or those carrying ammunition through the danger zone.

Unless Governor Intervenes Atlanta Man Must Hang.

Atlanta, Ga., June 10.—The Georgia prison commission informed Governor Slaton it had refused to grant clemency to Leo M. Frank, condemned to death for the murder of Mary Phagan. ## BRITAIN WILL TREAT ALL PRISONERS ALIKE

Captures Submarine Crew and Announces Policy Change.

London, June 10.—Official announcement was made by A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, that a German submarine had been sunk and that six of its officers and twenty-one other members of its crew had been captured.

Mr. Balfour announced also that German submarine prisoners hereafter will receive treatment identical with that of all other German prisoners in England.

The question of the method of treatment by Great Britain of German officers and sailors captured on submarines has caused ill feeling in Germany, which resulted in retaliatory measures on the part of the military authorities. The announcement by Mr. Balfour is expected to put an end to the situation thus created. Great Britain, soon after the beginning of the German submarine blockade, held the captive crews of submarines in confinement in locations apart from other German prisoners, and it was intimated that they were to be dealt with with particular severity after the war. Germany alleged they were being maltreated, and certain British prisoners in Germany were selected from their fellows for treatment of equal harshness.

Fortified Tires

Have Pushed Millions of Rocks from the Tire Road

They have saved waste and trouble to hundreds of thousands of motorists. The result is that last year, despite some hundred rivals, men bought about one Goodyear for every car in use.

The rocks that remain are Mishap and Misuse. No tire can ever avoid them. But if you'll judge tires by merit, not by luck, you are bound to come to Goodyears. You'll find they average best.

The Rocks Avoided

We have saved millions of rim-cuts, blowouts and loose treads by features exclusive to Goodyears. We have brought you security through our piano-wire base.

Our All-Weather tread—exclusive to Goodyears—has minimized punctures, tread wear and skidding. It is tough and very thick. The grips are sharp-edged and resistless.

All these protections—the best ever developed—are in Goodyear Fortified Tires alone.

New Gains About "Labyrinth" Are Also Announced.

BERLIN ADMITS ONE REVERSE

German Statement, However, Says French Were Repulsed at East of Hebuterne—Village is Nearly All Taken by French—Germans Take Stanislaus in Galicia.

London, June 10.—The French have driven the Germans completely out of Neuville-St. Vaast, extended their position at Hebuterne and consolidated their gains at Tracy-le-Mont, where the German front reaches nearest to Paris.

The midnight communique from Paris states that after taking the last group of houses in Neuville the French made gains of considerable importance north of the village. Berlin admits the loss of Neuville, but states that east of the town the French were thrown back.

The capture of Neuville gives the French an important advantage in their operations against the Germans in the "labyrinth," southeast of the village. Here Paris reports the French progress continued.

Germans Capture Stanislaus.

Berlin, June 10.—The capture of Stanislaus, an important town on the railroad from Bukovina to Lemberg, and the isolation of the great Russian army operating in the Bukovina region is officially announced.

Heavy Russian reinforcements are said to have been sent recently to Bukovina, the army operating there having been further enlarged by the retreat into that region of troops defeated by the Teutons at Kalusz, eastern Galicia. General Ballin's left wing is now prosecuting a violent offensive against the segregated Russians and driving them eastward. The Austro-German forces have hopes of completely surrounding and capturing this great Russian force.

FLYER GIVEN DOUBLE HONOR

French Decoration Makes Warneford First so Designated.

Paris, June 10.—More honors have been conferred upon Sublight Lieutenant Warneford of the British army, who fought with a Zeppelin 6,000 feet in the air over Belgium soil on Monday and destroyed it with the loss of twenty-eight German lives.

M. Millerand, French minister of war, upon the recommendation of General Joffre has decided to bestow the decoration of the Legion of Honor upon Lieutenant Warneford. Warneford is the first man of the allied armies honored by two countries.

ALL CAN FIRE ON ZEPPELINS

British War Office Gives Civilians Rights of Soldiers.

London, June 10.—New regulations for the protection of England against Zeppelins have just been issued by the war office.

H. J. Tennant, undersecretary of state for war, announced in commons that all persons, civilians as well as soldiers, are authorized to open fire against an airship whenever it is sighted.

Dr. E. B. Owens is in Chicago.

DOCTORS OF ADVERTISING.

A recent meeting of the Lancaster, Pa., Advertising club was addressed by Dr. V. W. Dippell, a professor of Franklin and Marshall college, on the subject of "The Psychology of Advertising."

After he had elucidated many of the theoretical principles of this business topic, Dr. Donald McCaskey, a country doctor with high ideals, arose and said:

"I wish that every member of my profession could have been present here tonight and heard this topic discussed in so fair and so square a manner. It would serve to add still another step in our medical advancement toward helping the public to help itself in health matters."

"The average physician believes in advertising and psychology, and he studies both of these subjects to the best of his ability. But there comes along the old and powerful traditions of my profession against advertising. We used to discountenance and forbid anything labeled 'advertising' because it was considered nothing but quackery and fake and the vaporings of the mountebank. Those were the days of P. T. Barnum and before clean-brained, strong-hearted students had begun to seek after the truth about psychology and its method of presentation."

"At the present time the medical profession is undergoing a change of heart. The first demand made upon a doctor is proof as to whether or not he is honest and courteous. If he is the type of a man and a scientist, his field for advertising is limited only by the boundaries of the earth, for nowadays the newspaper travels everywhere."

"Whenever a medical man can widen the scope of his usefulness by the employment of modern efficiency methods, if he is a real, earnest, red-blooded student he will take a step in advance of our grandfathers and lay hold of psychology and advertising technique in the same spirit that we have shown in applying our knowledge about bacteria, germ diseases and the prevention of illness."

"I believe with all my heart in clean-cut advertising based on Professor Dippell's type of psychology, and the quicker every physician in the United States learns to follow the good advertising examples of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, our Pennsylvania state health commissioner and of Dr. John B. Murphy of Chicago, former president of our American Medical association, the better for the health of the American man and his wife and children."

BLANKENBURG: WE LIKE HIM.

Philadelphia's mayor is seventy years old. He went into office with the intention of being mayor, and he has been no puppet, as ring politicians have learned to their cost. The other night, at a military reunion, Mayor Blankenburg, born in Germany, and an immigrant to this country fifty years ago, grasped the hand of Colonel Andrew Cowan, an American, native of Scotland, and these two, with the orchestra playing "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie" stood before the flag of their adoption and renewed their allegiance. The worthy mayor said then that seventy years was not too old for fighting, if it could be done in defense of the Stars and Stripes.

There was no gallery play in this—no George Cohan business—no spotlight maneuvering. It was a spontaneous outburst, without the slightest prearrangement, and it was just like Blankenburg, as good a German as ever came to this state which boasts of its splendid German citizenship. Blankenburg and others like him, stands for what every good American believes nearly all Germans in this country feel. If there should ever be war between this country and Germany the American-Germans of the United States would be found in the ranks.

Here's to Blankenburg and other American-Germans of his type. And if the Kaiser has any more like him to spare, the broad country invites them with open arms.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

War is more insistent in its nearness to the United States than it has been at any time since the turmoil started. War seems quite possible now, according to the dispatches and stories that are printed, but where has there been found a real reason why the people of the United States should go to war?

It is quite true that conditions may rapidly develop that will make war a necessity, but up to the present writing we cannot see where there has been sufficient cause for such a sacrifice. The American people will not go to war without great cause and President Wilson will not allow war between this nation and another without great cause.

The war equipment of the United States is one of the greatest arguments against war right now. If we go to war, we ought to win, and our army at present would hardly be sufficient to engage the skirmish line of one of the modern European armies. Our submarine equipment, which seems to be the most important factor in ocean warfare, is a poor imitation of the real thing.

But what this nation lacks in standard efficiency and equipment, it makes up in a measure in patriotism, ingenuity, resourcefulness and grit, and if war is forced upon the people of the United States, the people will meet the issue half way.

JUST WHAT GERMANY WANTS.

If the United States declared war upon Germany or that country declared war on the United States, Germany would be vastly better off, in the opinion of many. At present factories of this country are working twenty-four hours a day to supply arms, ammunition, clothing, etc., to the armies of the Allies. If this country was thrown into a state of war with Germany, these exportations would be stopped by the immediate order of this government, for it would be necessary to pile up supplies for our own armies. It would be many months before the exportation could be resumed of our own military put in the field, and Germany would be doing things to the Allies in the meantime.

We can't see where war with Germany would be very terrible right now. Germany can't get out to get at us and we would have to go some to get at her, so the worst we could do would be to write notes and call names and say what we'd do the first time we caught each other alone.

THE NEW HAT.

Man buys himself a new straw hat; it often leaves him busted flat, when he has paid the price; and then, all swollen up with pride, he goes around with stately stride, and knows he's looking nice. He's hinking, when he's thus arrayed, that every widow, every maid, will say he's just too sweet; with vain imaginings like these he runs against the busy breeze that scoots along the street. The zephyr takes his virgin hat and slams it down and knocks it flat, and rolls it on its brim, and as he tries to run it down most all the idiots in town are idly joshing him. Along the avenues and pikes, at record breaking gait he hikes, a cloud of dust behind; the widow and the winsome maid behold him as he hits the grade, and laugh until they're blind. The hat goes scooting forty miles with scores of other errant tiles, before he runs it down; and then it is a dismal wreck; the brim is flopping round his neck, his hair sticks through the crown. The lid that made his spirit proud, that made him scorn the common crowd, is spoiled beyond recall; while such disasters come to pass, we plainly see all flesh is grass, pride goes before a fall.

CURRENT COMMENT

IOWA'S VIEWPOINT

Des Moines Register: The name of Frank O. Lowden is mentioned more and more frequently in the newspapers of Illinois in connection with the republican nomination for governor next year.

Just at this time when interest in the rural life of the middle west is being revived, the candidacy of a man like Mr. Lowden ought to appeal to the people without much regard to politics.

While others have been talking of the delights of the rural home and of the possibilities of rural life, he has gone out and demonstrated what can be done. His estate on the Rock river is one of the handsomest in the United States, and it has all been done out of the rough under his personal supervision.

Mr. Lowden actually lives the rural life and demonstrates to his neighbors and to the state at large that the rural home can be made the most attractive American home.

There will be interest in his candidacy here in Iowa, when it is announced, for he is one of the best known of the native Iowans who have won recognition in other states.

This interest will be re-doubled if his campaign takes on the significance that may readily be given to it, a campaign for a more vital interest in the rural life in the Mississippi valley.

WRITERS ARE NOT SINCERE

Authors Don't Feel What They Express, Says Magazine.

Sincerity is at once the most precious quality of any piece of writing and the most difficult to define. Sincerity may be of all sorts of degrees of intensity. It may become very faint and still be sufficient to serve the purpose of the tale. The most intensely sincere novelist who ever lived, Tolstol, said that no writer was sincere who just sat down and wrote a story merely for the sake of writing a story. You must have something to disclose to your fellow human beings, some message which you had either to deliver or suffer the consequences to your own soul—the process of writing a story must have something personally inevitable about it.

This was all very well for Tolstol, tragic and ever serious giant that he was, but as a dictum it amounts to nothing more than a statement of his own noble feeling about his works. And it was not only personal, but racial, for the great Russian to work in that spirit.

The writers of other nations and races seldom reach any such pitch of pure sincerity, and when they seem to do so it is usually by dint of so much self-conscious effort and strain that the quality itself is lost. The younger novelists in England are today perpetuating all sorts of monstrosities of realism under a continental influence which is too strong for their native gifts. There are many writers in England, and in America, also, who feel forced by their admiration of the profound and passionate continental realism to imitate it in their own work, and so throw away their own gift of sincerity in the attempt to reproduce the quality of another.

The same process obtains throughout the entire field of fiction writing with the difference merely that whereas an ambitious young novelist effaces himself and clouds his talents by producing strained imitations of famous masters of the art of fiction, the writer for the magazine simply tries to imitate all of the successful magazine stories he has ever read. Perhaps he does it so well that the editor buys and prints his story—magazines must be issued on their regular day, and there are not always enough really good stories to go round. But no one feels very happy over such a story, and the search for genuinely good ones goes on all the harder.—Metropolitan.

Starch Is Energy

"In the early history of the race our ancestors probably noticed that certain animals and birds sought much of their food in the seeds of grasses, while at the same time the smaller animals dug into the earth for roots and tubers," said Ernest D. Clark in addressing the Congress of Applied Chemistry. "Thus, man early learned to make the starchy foods one of the main articles of his daily fare, and it is true today that among all people in all climates bread from cereals or some starchy substitute is the 'staff of life.' Among many animals the foods of this type and the staple ration, and it is only the carnivora that scorn such a diet."

"Upon digestion the starches are split into the sugars, which are then burned in the organism to yield their energy for the maintenance of the physical activities and physiological functions of the animals. Unlike the proteins, the carbohydrates and fats are used by animals to produce heat and energy and not so much to become living protoplasm, as in the case with nucleoproteins and albumins, for example."

"Since but little new protein is needed for the upkeep and growth of the mature plant or animal, we see that the constant demands for energy supplies must be met by the sugars and fats consumed. The abundance of starchy foods eaten by men and animals is adapted to meet this necessity of energy-producing material."

"The greatest source of starchy food is, of course, the seeds of the various cereals which we group together as grain. The amount of such material produced by the soil in a year is almost beyond calculation. The production of this golden flood of grain is the earth's oldest and greatest industry."

"Besides the starch given us in the cereals we must not forget the potato, which is another staple article of diet in the whole civilized world. In different countries various starchy foods are popular, such as sweet potatoes, arrowroot preparations, tapioca, sago, chestnuts, bananas, etc."

"From the time that man first noticed that grains were good to eat he has taken plants of this type under his special protection and given them careful cultivation. The result has been an improvement in the races of grains as judged by their yield and adaptability to varying conditions of climate. To produce these harvests the soil supplies the water and mineral nutrients, while the carbon dioxide and sunlight lend their aid through no effort of man. His duty, then, is to see that the soil is kept in its most productive condition and by so doing he will have an ample supply of grain for the needs of the future."

"The observation of primitive man that the seeds of certain plants made an acceptable food was the beginning of agriculture."

"It's pretty hard to sleep on an empty stomach," said the tramp wearily to the hustling farmer's wife by way of appeal.

NEW LAW WOULD PROHIBIT FERRETS

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED TO THE GAME LAWS ARE VERY STRINGENT.

WOULD PROTECT EVEN RABBITS

Open Season of Five Days For Shooting of Male Pheasants; Can't Sell Any Bass.

No game birds or animals may be shot between March 31 and August 1 if a bill amending the present law is passed by the state legislature. The measure is pending in the senate and its passage is assured in both the senate and house, according to Representative Robert Scholes of Peoria, a member of the house fish and game committee. Even rabbits are protected, the intention being to give no excuse for hunting during the period in which practically all game except rabbits has been protected. Rabbits may not be killed from Feb. 1 to Aug. 1.

Hunting with ferrets is prohibited under the proposed law.

Further restrictions are placed on fishing, among them being a prohibition against the sale of bass whether caught within or without the state.

For the rod and line fishermen, however, the amended law removes an objectionable provision and if it is passed fish of any length may be taken. The present law prohibits retaining certain fish less than six inches in length.

The members of the committees at work for reform in the game laws say that when a fish has been caught little protection against killing undersized fish is obtained by throwing them back in the water because when taken off the hook the fish generally dies.

An open season of five days is provided under the bill in which cock pheasants may be killed. Hitherto they were absolutely protected but the amended law would permit shooting them from Oct. 1 to 5 inclusive. Only two pheasants may be shot in a day, however.

The duck season is changed from Sept. 1 to Dec. 15, to February 15 to March 31.

The lawful size of seines is increased from 600 to 1,000 feet, but they may be used only from Sept. 1 to April 15.

Squirrels may not be shot before Aug. 1, but the period is extended to end Feb. 1.

Fishing with hoop nets from July 1 to April 15 is permitted but trammel nets are barred, although the commercial fishermen made a fight to have the prohibition against trammel nets removed.

To carry out the provisions of the act the amended bill established a state game and fish commission of three members to be appointed by the governor. Seven wardens and 78 deputy wardens are provided. The president of the commission shall receive $4,000 a year and the other two members $3,000 a year. The wardens shall receive $1,500 a year and the deputy wardens $1,200 a year. All constables are ex-officio special game wardens, and shall receive one-half of fines collected for violations of the act.

Other important provisions of the present law are unchanged.

HAS RECOVERED

Gladys Swartz, the little daughter of Mrs. C. B. Swartz who has been confined to her home for several weeks with tonsillitis, is able to be out again.

Seven.

Numerous are the queer beliefs concerning the number seven. From the very earliest ages the seven great planets were known and ruled this world and the dwellers in it, and their number entered into every conceivable matter that concerned man. There are seven days in the week, "seven holes in the head, for the master stars are seven," seven ages both for man and the world in which he lives. There are seven material heavens. There are seven colors in the spectrum and seven notes in the diatonic octave, and the "leading" note of the scale is the seventh. Be it noted that the seventh son is not always gifted with beneficial powers. In Portugal he is believed to be subject to the powers of darkness and to be compelled every Saturday evening to assume the likeness of an ass.—St. James Gazette.

The Human Mind.

What is the mind? In "The New Psychology," by Herbert L. Wilbur, the author declares it to be the sum total of all the impressions we get and says the sum total is constantly increasing. This, he concludes, explains the fact that all men are of a different size mentally—the fact that old men know more than young men—also that a few young men know more than some other men ever knew all their lives.

Herein, too, is where men have the advantage of women—men moving about in the world outside, where the sum total is greatest—women staying more on the inside, in the house; but, as above, some women know more than some men. The salvation of all of us is to hike—to the right place.

False Alarm.

The poverty stricken artist gnawed at his last crust of bread. A thump resounded on the door. With a cry of joy he sprang to his feet.

"This opportunity knocking," he said and opened the door.

"If you don't pay me that $7 for back rent out you go!" thundered his landlady.

Life is full of one thing after another after all.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Poison of the Centipede.

The centipede is popularly supposed to carry a sting on each foot, but I have several times handled one after its head was removed without the claws producing any result. It is the first pair of claws only that are venomous, being hollow and provided with poison bags like a snake's fang. The largest I ever saw was eleven inches in length, a gruesome creature. A bite from one of this size would most likely have been fatal to a man in weak health. The tarantula, though its powers of offense are nothing like those of the scorpion or centipede, is, however, a more unpopular character than either. The horror of these large spiders entertained by many people is curious and unaccountable. I have seen Australian bushmen, who in everyday life scarcely seemed to understand danger, turn white as a sheet at the sight of a small "triantelope," as they called it.—Chambers' Journal.

Illusions.

An illusion is something we believe in so much that we prefer it to reality. Happiness is the ability to create and maintain one's illusions on a paying basis.

Every illusion should be properly supported. Some people are so mean that when an illusion rings their bell and asks for board and lodging they slam the door in its face.

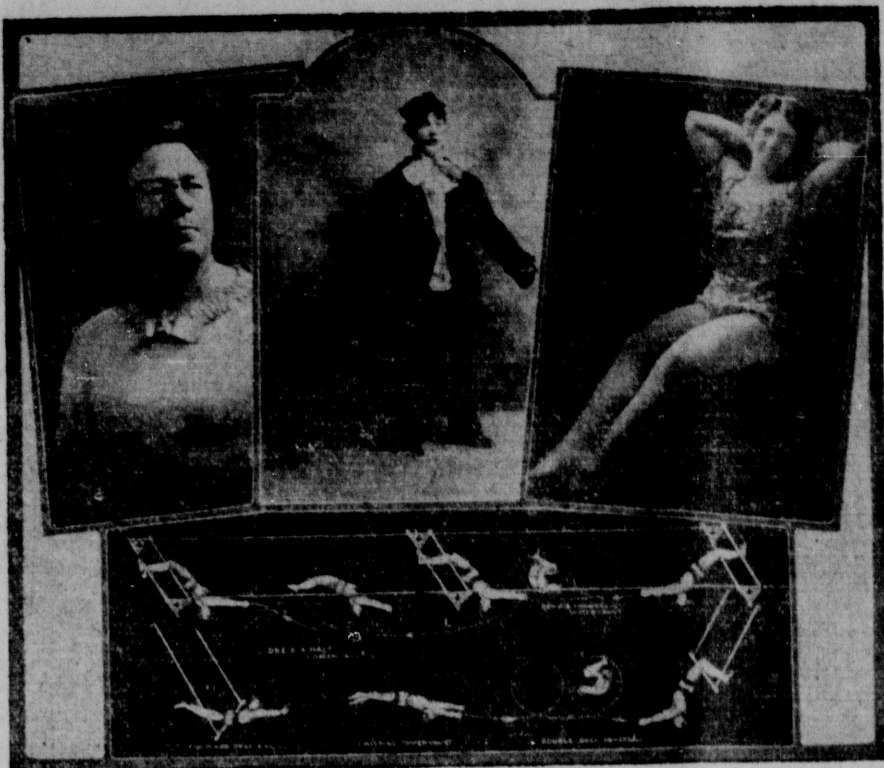

It is better to maintain one or two illusions in good style, giving them constant care and nourishment, than it is to have so many that you have to fit too often from one to another.

Without illusions we should lay so much stress on reality that life would not be worth living. Reality itself is the biggest illusion of all, but the most unprofitable, because it is the only one that pays no return on the investment.

Life without illusions is like a bird without wings.—Life.

AT THE FAMILY

The Parisian Trio, a musical organization of vaudeville fame will be the principal attraction at the cozy Family theater for four days commencing June 10th. Those who appreciate all that is meritorious and refined in the musical line will find just what they are looking for in the offering of the Parisian Trio who play on a variety of instruments in capital style.

Miss Louise DeFoglie, the daintiest of the dainty, will display some gowns that will be the envy of the ladies in the audience, but her wealth of personality and real talent in delivering the latest song conceptions will readily win for her undivided admiration.

Comedy oddities will be indulged in by Weber and Conlin, a duo of up-to-the-minute conversationalists with voices that are hard to beat.

All in all the bill is of tip top calibre and will doubtless be greeted accordingly. A motion picture program of exclusive nature will also be presented.

Tonight's pictures will be "The Great Silence," an Essanay drama in three parts with Francis X. Bushman in the leading role.

PRINCESS THEATER

Tonight the Princess theater will show an American feature entitled The Resolve, with an all star cast of splendid actors. This story is one of love and adventure and wonderfully related and acted on the screen.

The other pictures are a Keystone comedy entitled Love, Lute and Crabs, a very funny Keystone comedy. The last reel is a Reliance drama entitled The Deadly Focus, with Raoul Walsh and Clair Anderson in the leading roles. A story wherein a schemer is destroyed by his own cunning.

DIXON OPERA HOUSE

The Enterprise Stock Co. will repeat the bill, "The Wall Street Detective," this evening, which was so admirably played last evening. The patrons thoroughly enjoyed the tabloid form of drama presented by these excellent players. Pictures tonight are: "The Funny Side of Jealousy" in two reels, featuring Jefferson De Angeles, and "One Night a Drama" with King Baggot in the title role.

Young Conquerors.

Napoleon said that a man ages quickly on battlefields. Speaking of one of his generals, he said at Austerlitz that Ordener was worn out, adding: "One has a short time for war. I am good for another six years, and then I shall have to stop."

"Strangely enough," says Lord Rosebery in "The Last Phase," "his judgment was exactly verified. Six years and a month from Austerlitz (which was fought on Dec. 2, 1805) would have brought him to 1812, to the Russian campaign, which, if he had observed his own rule, he would have avoided."

When his "star" was eclipsed for ever at Waterloo he was but forty-six years of age, but he had been a broken man in body, and to an increasing extent in mental power, long before. Wellington fought his last battle at forty-six, Ney at forty-five, Nelson at forty-seven. Alexander the Great was only thirty-three when death ended his career of conquest. Hannibal was in his forty-sixth year when he was finally defeated at Zama by Scipio.

A Pair of Eminent Grave Diggers.

The profession have a saying that parts make actors. When the $20,000 benefit to Lester Wallace was given in New York, with one of the historic "Hamlet" casts of the century, the public, of course, expected to see a performance that could never be forgotten because of its all round greatness. There was disappointment for the expectant innocents. All star casts want proportion, and this particular performance of the sublime tragedy was "queer."

For example, Joseph Jefferson and William J. Florence played the grave diggers, and in their dressing room after Horatio's "there crack'd a noble heart," Mr. Jefferson said to his companion:

"Billy, whose lines were you speaking, anyway?"

"Bacon's, I guess," Florence replied.

"Perhaps," mused gentle Joe. "I knew they weren't Shakespeare's."—Detroit Free Press.

The Firlinfoens.

At Brianza, in Lombardy, there flourishes a very curious sort of band, all the members of which play the same kind of instrument, known as the "firlinfoens." This corresponds to what we know as "panpipes" and is constructed of reeds fastened side by side, the bass pipes being often several feet long, while the others gradually decrease in size.

The "firlinfoens," as the players are called, after their instruments, are as a rule ignorant of music and they learn their tunes by ear, often from a phonograph. It is said that the panpipe players experience all the sensations of intoxication after a march due to the energetic blowing and the constant wagging of the head to and fro. The music, although conveying to the stranger at first a most curious effect, is said to be not unpleasant.—Washington Star.

The March to Mecca.

The great caravan which every year sets out from Cairo for Mecca has a conductor on a camel leading the way. Day and night, whatever the weather is, he remains without any covering, naked to the waist. With him march men with large torches, which are kept alight during the night and illuminate the column of smoke above them, so that it appears a pillar of fire. During the day, when the heat of the caravan is difficult to see on account of intervening hills and mounds of sand, the torches are kept burning, so that instead of the light which served during the night a column of smoke indicates to the straggling caravan from afar the direction of the march and the time and place of a halt.

FARM CROP YIELDS DOUBLED

Illinoisans Declare Right Management Will Dou- ble Production.

George Koppenhoefer of Lake Forest, Ill., and William Sneddon of Everett, Ill., told yesterday the way they have managed to more than double yields on the farms which they operate.

Both are practical farmers, and thoroughly qualified to speak from long experience.

"Plant food, selected seed, thorough tillage, proper crop rotation and lime when necessary," declared Mr. Koppenhoefer, "will double the yields. This may not happen the first season, but in a very few years a run down farm may be built up and the crop yields more than doubled.

Manure produced on the farm is the cheapest source of plant food for the farmer and it should be properly taken care of to avoid plant food loss from leaching and heating. The proportions of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash in manure, however, are not balanced for the majority of crops and there is not enough manure produced to maintain fertility. Therefore, I supply the deficiency and proper balance by the addition of commercial plant food.

"My commercial fertilizer cost me less than $25 per ton. On my hay land I used 300 pounds per acre and increased the yield one ton per acre, worth $12, less cost of fertilizer, $3.75, equaling net profit per acre of $8.25.

"On oats I used 400 pounds fertilizer per acre and the increase was 33 bushels per acre. With 300 pounds fertilizer per acre on corn I increased my yield 20 bushels per acre.

"I used 500 pounds commercial fertilizer on silage corn and increased the yield over six tons per acre."

Mr. Sneddon, who farms a large tract near Everett, Ill., was quite enthusiastic on his results. He said: "Since 1907 the use of commercial fertilizer with what manure we had has shown following results:

"Hay crop increased 1 1/2 tons per acre.

"Corn increased 25 bushels per acre.

"Wheat increased 19 1/2 bushels per acre.

"Oats increased 30 bushels per acre.

"In one instance a 40-acre field from which we cut 25 loads of hay in 1907 last year cut 90 loads. Further than that, the land keeps improving year after year, because of better management supplemented with commercial fertilizers.

"If farmers would all treat their ground right we could feed the world."

QUALITY WHEAT COM- MANDS A PREMIUM

Illinois Farmer Scores High in Extra Profits.

A prominent Illinois farmer sold his last year's crop of wheat to a Chicago Board of Trade member last week for a premium of ten cents per bushel over his neighbor whose wheat was sold in the same market the same day. The wheat that brought the premium was hard, flinty, plump and of the highest quality. The inferior wheat had a high percentage of shriveled kernels, was soft and inferior.

The grower of the premium wheat on being questioned regarding his grain said: "Two years ago my wheat sold on the same market as No. 3 where it sold today as No. 1. At that time I was not only getting a poor quality of wheat, but my yield was less than 12 bushels per acre, on what I thought was fairly good wheat land. I had fully made up my mind to quit growing the crop when I happened to get hold of an Ohio Experiment Station bulletin, which reported some tests that had been carried on regarding the effects of fertilizers on the physical and chemical properties of wheat."

"While the experimenters paid more attention to quality than yield they increased the yield in 1910 from 8.45 bushels per acre where no fertilizer was applied to approximately 30 bushels per acre where a complete fertilizer was used and to over 34 bushels where the manure was re-enforced with fertilizer. More than that, there were 51 per cent of plump kernels and 49 per cent of shriveled kernels in the unfertilized. The percentage of plump kernels was increased to between 85 and 90 per cent where fertilizer was applied and to 94 per cent where re-enforced manure was used. That bulletin set me thinking.

"I immediately ordered the best wheat fertilizer I could get. I plowed my wheat ground early, harrowed and disked it well and had a fine firm seed bed. I believe in using good seed so I reclaimed my wheat and drilled first class seed. Then I drilled in 200 pounds of fertilizer to the acre. Last harvest my crop averaged slightly over 25 bushels an acre of the best wheat I ever grew. I am going to beat that as I have my mark set at 40 bushels. As soon as I do a little draining and increase the organic content of my soil I'll get it."

As the farmer folded the check for the year's crop and closed the heavy rubber around his bill book, the elevator man who had shipped his wheat to Chicago shook his head knowingly and said: "Whatever that man goes after he gets."

FOR PEACE TREATY POLICY

Formal Statement Gives Issues on Which President and Secretary Parted—Latter Would Warn Americans From Danger Zone and Bar Ammunition from Passenger Ships.

Washington, June 10.—Just as the new American note to Germany was started on its way over the telegraph wires Mr. Bryan at his home gave out this statement of his position in regard to the United States attitude toward Germany and his reason for retiring from the leading position in President Wilson's cabinet:

"My reason for resigning is clearly stated in my letter of resignation—namely, that I may employ as a private citizen the means which the president does not feel at liberty to employ. I honor him for doing what he believes to be right, and I am sure that he desires, as I do, to find a peaceful solution of the problem which has been created by the action of the submarines.

Two Points of Difference. "Two of the points on which we differ, each conscientiously in his conviction, are:

"1. As to the suggestion of investigation by an international commission, and,

"2. As to warning Americans against traveling on belligerent vessels or with cargoes of ammunition.

"I believe that this nation should frankly state to Germany that we are willing to apply in this case the principle which we are bound by treaty to apply to disputes between the United States and thirty countries with which we have made treaties providing for investigation of all disputes of every character and nature. These treaties, negotiated under this administration, make war practically impossible between this country and the thirty governments representing nearly three-fourths of all the people of the world.

Germany Accepted Principle.

"Among the nations with which we have these treaties are Great Britain, France and Russia. No matter what disputes may arise between us and these treaty nations, we agree that there shall be no declaration and no commencement of hostilities until the matters in dispute have been investigated by an international commission, and a year's time is allowed for investigation and report.

"This plan was offered to all the nations, without any exceptions whatever, and Germany was one of the nations that accepted the principle, being the twelfth, I think, to accept. No treaty was actually entered into with Germany, but I cannot see that that should stand in the way when both nations indorsed the principle. I do not know whether Germany would accept the offer, but our country should, in my judgment, make the offer.

Would Silence the Jingoists.

"Such an offer, if accepted, would at once relieve the tension and silence all the jingoists who are demanding war. Germany has always been a friendly nation and a great many of our people are of German ancestry. Why should we not deal with Germany according to this plan, to which the nation has pledged its support?"

"The second point of difference is as to the course which should be pursued in regard to Americans traveling on belligerent ships or with cargoes of ammunition.

Question of Duty, Not Right. "Why should an American citizen be permitted to involve his country in war by traveling upon a belligerent ship when he knows that the ship will pass through a danger zone? The question is not whether an American citizen has a right under international law to travel on a belligerent ship; the question is whether he ought not, out of consideration for his country, if not for his own safety, avoid danger when avoidance is possible.

"It is a very one sided citizenship that compels a government to go to war over a citizen's rights and yet relieves the citizen of all obligations to consider his nation's welfare. I do not know just how far the president can legally go in actually preventing Americans from traveling on belligerent ships, but I believe the government should go as far as it can, and that in case of doubt it should give the benefit of the doubt to the government.

Wishes Warning as in Mexico.

"But even if the government could not legally prevent citizens from traveling on belligerent ships, it could, and in my judgment should, earnestly advise American citizens not to risk themselves or the peace of their country, and I have no doubt that these warnings would be heeded.

"President Taft advised Americans to leave Mexico when insurrection broke out there, and President Wilson has repeated the advice. This advice, in my judgment, was eminently wise, and I think the same course should be followed in regard to warning Americans to keep off vessels subject to attack.

Ammunition on Passenger Ships.

"I think, too, that American passenger ships should be prohibited from carrying ammunition. The lives of passengers ought not to be endangered by cargoes of ammunition, whether that danger comes from possible explosions within or from possible attacks from without. Passengers and ammunition should not travel together. The attempt to prevent American citizens from incurring these risks is entirely consistent with the effort which our government is making to prevent attacks from submarines.

"The use of one remedy does not exclude the use of the other. The most familiar illustration is to be found in the action taken by municipal authorities during a riot. It is the duty of the mayor to suppress the mob and to prevent violence, but he does not hesitate to warn citizens to keep off the streets during the riots. He does not question their right to use the streets, but for their own protection and in the interest of order he warns them not to incur the risks involved in going upon the streets when men are shooting at each other.

Can Act as Private Citizen.

"The president does not feel justified in taking the action above stated. That is, he does not feel justified, first, in suggesting the submission of the controversy to investigation, or second, in warning the people not to incur the extra hazards in traveling on belligerent ships or in ships carrying ammunition. And he may be right in the position he has taken, but as a private citizen I am free to urge both of these propositions and to call public attention to these remedies, in the hope of securing such an expression of public sentiment as will support the president in employing these remedies, if, in the future, he finds it consistent with his sense of duty to favor them."

Secretary Bryan said, in giving out his statement, that while it mentioned only two particulars of difference he reserved any others for presentation in the future.

VILLA FAVORS WILSON IDEA

Reports Say He Would Eliminate Himself From Troubles.

El Paso, Tex., June 10.—General Villa's main army, defeated at Leon, is retreating on Torreón, according to advices received here. A telegram from General Villa in person was dated at Aguas Calientes, showing that the northern leader himself has retreated that far.

According to statements of Villa officials here, General Villa has yet made no reply to the Wilson note. Doctor L. B. Raschbaum, formerly General Villa's physician, who has just returned from a visit to General Villa at the front, declares that Villa told him that he "was entirely willing to eliminate himself to prevent intervention."

8 STATES FAVOR WATERWAY

Shippers of Upper Mississippi Valley Take Vigorous Stand.

Dubuque, Ia., June 10.—Shippers from eight Mississippi valley states met here and took a vigorous stand for the development of Mississippi river transportation. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Upper Mississippi Improvement association.

The speakers declared that the opening of the Panama canal would cause discrimination against shippers of the middle west unless water routes were utilized. Strong support was promised a Mississippi river freight line.

ILLINOIS HOUSE KILLS POTTS INSURANCE BILL

Measure Making Good Friday Legal Holiday Defeated.

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—Insurance companies won their battle in the house when by a vote of 68 to 20 the members, after more than thirty had left the chamber upheld the insurance company in killing the Potts bill.

The motion to discharge the committee and bring the bill out on the floor was made by Representative Michael L. Igoo of Chicago, Dunne leader in the house. It caused one of the hottest fights the house has seen this session.

Mr. Igoo charged that after weeks of deliberation and hearing of testimony the committee in a secret meeting voted to report out a makeshift bill. This brought Representative William L. Scanlan, chairman of the committee, to his feet. He denied that any such action was taken in a secret meeting.

The house committee on judiciary made a report killing the bills making Good Friday a legal holiday. One of the bills had been passed by the senate.

ENDORSED AT HOME

SUCH PROOF AS THIS SHOULD CONVINCE ANY DIXON CITIZEN.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Dixon adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

D. G. Miller, Prop. furniture store, 113 Peoria avenue, Dixon, says: "I am bothered every now and then by disordered kidneys. My back gets sore and I feel poorly. I also have dizzy spells. When one of these attacks come on, I use Doan's Kidney Pills and they promptly relieve the trouble. Another of my family has also used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Miller had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

The berries are exceptionally fine, both in size and flavor owing to the good weather conditions for ripening.

We can not say when the cheapest prices will be made but according to outside markets, good berries are low enough as the growers can ship at present prices and net the usual price here at this writing. And again you will find that the few first pickings of a berry patch are the finest fruit of the season.
